DEDICATION TO ROY DENEALE HUNTER—1873-1944

On April 12, 1873, Roy D. Hunter was born in Carson City, Nevada. His secondary education was obtained in Chicago, after which he was employed in the Sullivan Machinery Company. In 1892 he was transferred to the branch in Claremont, New Hampshire, retiring from the position of general manager in 1912. During this period he traveled extensively, visiting mining districts in many countries.

After furthering his education in the field of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin and at Massachusetts State College, he established a very successful dairy farm in West Claremont. Deeply interested in agriculture, he was outstanding in its progress and in farmers' cooperatives.

In 1916 Mr. Hunter was appointed to the Board of Trustees of this University by Governor Rolland Spaulding and had acted as its president since 1931. He also served as chairman of the Executive and Properties Committees and as a member of the Agricultural Affairs Committee. His is the distinction of twice serving as the Chief Executive Officer of the University, once after the death of President Edward M. Lewis and again after the death of President Fred Engelhardt.

His complete understanding of the purpose and operation of the institution, as well as his fine judgment and executive ability, were recognized by the Board, which, in 1937, conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. It is Mr. Hunter's remarkable vision of the future institution that has so greatly contributed to the progress of this University. He provided that force which is essential to counterbalance the inherent conservatism of most educational institutions.

Much of what we see and enjoy in this University is ours because of his vision, his willingness to serve, and his utter devotion to the task, translating his dreams into reality. It is to this memory of Mr. Hunter that we, the Class of 1945, dedicate our volume of the Granite.

F O R E W O R D

We, the Editorial Staff, representing the class of 1945, present this thirty-sixth volume of the Granite as the first senior yearbook since 1915, with the hope that it will take its place in your library, keeping the tradition of yearly class books.

Wartime restrictions and shortages of material and labor have not made the task of publishing this yearbook an easy one.

Conditions have existed and incidents have occurred which never would have except during a state of war. Consequently, in view of the fact that this staff has been faced with unprecedented problems, we ask that you accept this book and regard with tolerance the effort to continue the tradition of annual classbooks.

Our hope is that the 1945 Granite will at some later date reach the hands of all who have found it necessary to leave our Alma Mater in order to serve our nation, and that it will serve as a reminder to their own happy days spent on the campus of the University of New Hampshire.

IN MEMORIAM

FRED ENGLEHARDT

FROM 1937 to 1944 one of the most vital forces on the campus of the University of New Hampshire was the leadership and personality of Fred Englehardt, president, faithful servant of the University and the State of New Hampshire.

To those students who attended the University of New Hampshire during those chaotic and hectic years, the spirit of the University was personified in the tolerance, understanding and aid given so generously by Prexy.

Prexy was a man of the present and the future. He had faith in the youth of today. In memoriam, Fred Englehardt, your spirit will make us better citizens.

ROY D. HUNTER

ROY D. HUNTER was a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of New Hampshire from 1916 to 1944. As chairman of the Board of Trustees he served twice as president pro tempore of the University. It was during these periods that the students came to know him for his ability as a leader, as a courageous pioneer in education, and his sincere desire to serve the students of the University of New Hampshire, the University itself, the State of New Hampshire, and the people.

The students of the University of New Hampshire will not forget you—forever in memoriam.

JAMES A. WELLMAN

JAMES A. WELLMAN served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of New Hampshire from 1928 to 1945.

Although he was not known by many of the students they owed him a debt they could never repay, for much of the progress and expansion of the University of New Hampshire has been due, in part at least, to his initiative, foresight, and unceasing efforts.

In memoriam, James A. Wellman, we shall endeavor to fulfill the glorious destiny of our University which you foresaw and worked so nobly to achieve.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

ONCE more an edition of the Granite is being issued in the midst of war. No phase of the life and work of the University as revealed in these pages is unaffected by that fact. Half of the student body, a large number of the instructors are away. Many are in the armed services, others in war activities of various kinds.

The students and faculty who are left have speeded up their courses, carried extra loads and adjusted themselves gladly and philosophically to the limitations and inconveniences of a college life far from normal.

The war is not over, yet its deepest shadows have begun to pass. The life which for so long has been ebbing from the campus has begun to flow back again. Even a total eclipse does not last forever.

The spirit revealed in the continued publication of the Granite is indicative of the spirit which will restore peace and strength to the universities and to the country. How well we can unite and accomplish this purpose will be the real test of whether the war ended in victory.

Harold W. Stoke

ROTC

AT the end of World War I, Congress decided to adopt means to train in time of peace a large reserve of officers, so that in case of a future war our army might be able to take the field more promptly. Congress concluded that the best way to accomplish this was to offer military training to selected men in schools and colleges. It therefore authorized the establishment of units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps in such educational institutions as might request this training — at universities and colleges granting degrees, including state universities and those state institutions which are required to provide instruction in military tactics under the Act of Congress of July 2, 1862. One such unit has been established at the University of New Hampshire. Based upon a concept which adheres strictly to American principles and ideals, the policy of military training in educational institutions has proven itself by its economy, its efficiency, and the excellence of the very large number of Reserve Officers who have been commissioned into the Army of the United States. The mission of the R.O.T.C. is to qualify the student as a leader, whether in peace or in war, to help prepare him to discharge his duties as a citizen, and to awaken in him an appreciation of the obligations of citizenship.

CLASS HISTORY

WHAT is the senior class this year? Classes now are not measured by a four year yardstick, but by crowded days and weeks, and the members of classes are unified not by the year in which they are graduated and a common range of experience but by a more subtle bond that reaches back into time for a memory and thrusts into the future for an ideal.

Freshman week was a whirlwind of activities — exams, the president's reception, dances, a picnic at the beach and, best of all, the forming of a new friendships. College life looked long and bright. How could we know that within the year the cheers we sent up for our victory over the Sophomores on University Day would be changed to prayers for a far greater victory.

Under our officers; president, Red Crory; vice-president, Joyce Smith; secretary, Barbara Shepherd; and treasurer, Jo Strumski we soon made our presence felt on Campus. We had freshman teams in football, baseball, lacrosse, hockey and basketball. Members of our class became active in Outing Club, Mike and Dial, the Debating Society, student publications, etc. in preparation for becoming leaders later on.

But December seventh saw the fall of Pearl Harbor and with it all our dreams of individual glory and the pursuit of individual happiness. A lot of us began to help out at the meetings of the Durham Red Cross, left off having fun and began to consider ourselves as students at war. Some of our number left to join the armed services and there began to be talk of an accelerated school program.

In accordance with such a program, we returned to school in October, where we discovered that courses in shop practice and welding had become popular with the girls, and that phys. ed. classes had taken on the rigor of army training. In fact the girls became such Amazons that a Life photographer took pictures while they paraded around in shorts on a day made memorable by its extreme cold.

Our officers this year were president, Joe Strumski; vice-president, Joyce Smith; secretary, Barbara Shepherd; and treasurer, Phil Pallas. We began to strut our stuff when some of our class became stars on the undefeated football team. (How "T" Hall bell rung out the victories that year.) We were right there when it came to electing the "mayor" of Durham, and our Ann Miller and Joe Riccardone starred in Mask and Dagger's play Arsenic and Old Lace.

Despite these triumphs war was taking its toll of our members, and the coming of spring saw the virtual end of us as a unified class. Half our members left by the end of the first semester to join the army and navy, and the ASTP and STAR units marched in to take their places. Though we continued to study, College was a "remember when" sort of affair — a faded corsage, a crumpled football score, a well-loved subject of discussion among those who had known what "it used to be like."

Well, we took it in our stride — the end of college activities, the mixed up classes of the Following Fall. We watched some of our classmates go on ahead of us, welcomed others to our ranks, and saw many others leave us for all time. And we did all this to a "cadence count" a pace that the army taught us. It allowed us time to write air mail letters every day, buy war stamps in the booth at Murkland, study and entertain the ASTP's.

Though activities were pared to the minimum we still found plenty to do. There was a small newspaper, The UNH News, and we had several dances, all of which seemed more like Military balls than the Carnival dance, Commencement and Pan-Hellenic dances, that they were called.

We had made many friends among the ASTP's and it was a sad day when we saw the last of the long green-brown, undulating lines that marched up and down the campus walks. There wasn't much left but a lot of studying and wistful hopes for the new year coming. We made plans for that year — we had to bring back some of the old so the new could know its way around.

This fall the New Hampshire and Granite resumed publication, Mask and Dagger got on its feet again and Carvinal was a big success. We again elected class officers, president, David Brown; vice-president, George Hatch; secretary, Mary O'Neil; and treasurer, Sue Sickmon. We've all been active in campus affairs, putting our very hearts into trying to revive that indefinable spirit that college has meant to us through all these trying times. The Veterans have done much to aid us in our attempt as have many of the other underclassman. Many have already contributed much to the building of a new world — surely they can and will make our college — our alma mater a place that will live for all time in the hearts of those who have known her.

CLASS OF 1945 IN THE SERVICE

GREETINGS to the members of the Class of 1945, but more especially to those of the class who have served and are now serving in the armed forces of the United States. When your class enrolled in the University on September 15, 1941 with a total membership of 617 — 590 men and 227 women, it was the largest class of record. It was soon to be greatly depleted, for after Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, draft and enlistments claimed 309 men and 10 women. On almost every battle front are to be found men of the class. Eleven of your classmates have paid the great sacrifice in full and forever. They found Peace in the lands they fought to free of ruthless invaders; one languishes in an enemy prison camp, and four more lost their lives in line of duty in the homeland. Of the ten girls, five joined the WAVES, four the WACS, and one the MARINES. There is a pull at the heart strings when one thinks of the potential value society has lost in each of these fine young men as well as others in this land of ours. The answer to the query, "Why should it be?" must be determined by those under arms and we on the home front to see to it that never again should the youth of this or any other land suffer the cost and awfulness of another war. So, young friends in the armed forces my prayer is that when your present task is completed, you may have a safe return to the campus to finish the job begun here.

AFTER two years of preliminary work the first issue of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities And Colleges was printed in 1954. The motivating idea behind the organization was two-fold. First, to serve as an outstanding honor to students, an honor which is void of all politics, fees and dues, one in which a deserving student after accomplishing a goal in college and displaying merit, would not be confronted with some fee before being recognized. Second, that of establishing a reference volume of authoritative information on the great body of American college students.

All students who have completed two full years of college and are rated as a junior or senior are eligible, provided the qualifications of character, leadership, scholarship, and potentialities are fulfilled.

IN 1908, the class of 1909 set the tradition of publishing an annual yearbook, and for the past thirty-eight years with the exception of the years of 1915 and 1944, there has been an annual publication.

We are a class who is faced with a world at war, but in order to preserve a tradition set so many years ago, we are publishing a senior yearbook.

As a senior publication, the Granite offers the advantage to the students of including their activities for their four years at the University, and thus offering a complete picture of their lives here. The Accelerated War Program led us to make this change in precedent, and we sincerely hope that it will be the privilege of the Senior Class to publish the Granites of the future.

THE New Hampshire was first printed in September, 1911, and was the successor of the old College Monthly, a literary magazine, published since the days when the college was still at Hanover.

It appeared once a week throughout the school year until 1935 when financial aid from the Student Activity Fund made two issues a week possible. The paper shortage in 1942 made it necessary to return to one issue a week, and in the spring of the same year, the staff thought it best to suspend publication for the duration of the war.

However, in 1944, a group of students realized the need for a weekly student publication, and formed preliminary plans for the resumption of The New Hampshire in the fall of that year.

The new staff overcame many difficulties by their enthusiasm and anxiety to keep The New Hampshire going.

It has been and always will be the policy of The New Hampshire to supply those connected with the University as students or faculty with campus news, and to serve as a connecting link between the University and its alumni.

U.N.H. OUTING CLUB

THE promotion of interests in out-of-door activities is the object for which the University of New Hampshire Outing Club was organized in 1915.

First on the fall calendar of activities is the outing to which all members of the freshman class are invited and by means of which they become introduced to the spirit of the Outing Club. Following this many Thursday supper outings are held at one of the cabins situated on the shore of Mendum's pond, about seven miles from campus. With a cabin on the slope of Iron Mountain in Jackson, New Hampshire and another in Franconia Notch, in the White Mountains, weekends of skiing and mountain climbing may also be enjoyed. Highlighting the events of the year is the Annual Winter Carnival sponsored by the Outing Club. Features of the Carnival weekend program are skits and movies, skiing and skating events, snow sculpture and the Carnival Ball.

The governing body of Outing Club is the "Blue Circle", which consists of members chosen for their genuine interest and participation in the activities and for their service as "heelers".

The club is a member of the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association, which comprises the leading Outing Clubs of Eastern Colleges and Universities. Joint trips and conferences provide opportunities to meet other "clubbers" and to exchange ideas.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

THE American Society of Mechanical Engineers is made up of Junior and Senior students majoring in Mechanical Engineering. The purpose of the organization is to aid the student in understanding of and stimulating interest in the more practical aspects of the engineering field.

At each weekly meeting, three members speak before the rest of the group concerning some phase of engineering. These talks enlarge the knowledge of the group as a whole and give each member a chance to gain practice in speaking before a group. Each year a New England Convention is held at which the members of the various A.S.M.E. groups of the New England colleges compete in a public speaking contest.

THE function of the Hillel club on campus is to satisfy the cultural, social and religious desires of the members.

The program of the Hillel Club consists of lectures on current affairs, dances, teas, community sings and social get togethers and religious services. The needs of the individual are the main concern of the organization.

One of the most outstanding of the activities of the club was the participation in an Anti-Semitism Conference at Andover-Newton Theological School.

Membership is open to all Jewish students on campus. During the past two years the organization has grown rapidly and is now an active group.

THE purpose of the Home Economics Club is to bring together those girls interested in Home Economics, to stimulate further interest in Home Economics at the University of New Hampshire, and to stimulate an interest in it throughout the state. Any person who is working for a degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics or who is especially interested in Home Economics is eligible for membership. Each year in the fall, the members of the Home Economics Club collaborate with the members of Psi Lambda, the honorary Home Economics Society, in making articles for the annual Psi Lambda Christmas Sale. After Christmas, business and social meetings are held.

The club is affiliated with the National American Home Economics Association.

THE UNH Detached Flight, CAP was organized in 1944 as one of a network of over 1000 Flights and Squadrons all over the nation. The National Organization, Headquarters of which is designated 32nd Base Unit USAAF, was founded in 1941, and grew out of the "desire for the civil air men of the country to be utilized with their equipment in the common defense." Active duty Squadrons of CAP flyers and groundmen aided in adequately combatting the Atlantic submarine menace when every military airship was so urgently needed for duty overseas. CAP pilots flew 24,000,000 miles of over-water patrol, losing 26 of their number. Most units of CAP still carry on active flying assignments such as search missions for lost aircraft, courier service, forest and border patrol, emergency and disaster relief, air shows for war bond drives, etc.

MIKE AND DIAL

MIKE and Dial was organized six years ago to fulfill the need for a broadcasting outlet on campus. During the past two years, due to wartime conditions, there has not been much opportunity to present broadcasts. In former times, though, special programs originated from the two radio studios on the third floor of Thompson Hall. The club also offered opportunities for actual microphone work on its weekly program from WHEB in Portsmouth.

The activities of the club include announcing, script writing, acting over the air, working on sound effects, and directing, under the guidance of Professor Cortez, the club's faculty supervisor. The radio workshop, across from one of the studios, is now used for try-outs, rehearsals, and a general get-together spot for the club members.

THE Newman Club is a club of Catholic culture and fellowship organized in secular colleges and universities of the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and Hawaii. The purpose of the club is identical with the activities: Religious, Educational and Social in that order of importance.

The first Newman Club was formed at the University of Pennsylvania in 1894 by five medical students. In 1915 the Federation of Newman Clubs was organized in New York. There are now three hundred clubs belonging to the Newman Club Federation whose headquarters is at the National Welfare Conference in Washington, D. C.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

THE Psychology Club was reorganized in the fall of 1944 under the auspices of the Psychology Department after being inactive for a year. The original Psychology Club evolved from a joint meeting of Psychology Seminar students and the majors in the department who sponsored an annual party. It was organized in 1936.

The purpose of the club as stated in the constitution is: "To create a better understanding of people, their personalities and their problems." We also strive to obtain an appreciation of the practical applications in the field of Psychology.

Christian Faith Committee	Jeannette Steele

THE purpose of the Student Christian Movement is to develop a fellowship of students united in a desire to understand the Christian Faith and live the Christian life in realistic awareness.

The S.C.M. is an organization of students affiliated with the New England Student Christian Federation. It is directly sponsored by Christian Work Inc., which consists of representatives from various denominations, and the State Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A., the New England S.C.M., the University, its alumni, faculty, and students. The many activities which the S.C.M. affords, allow the student to choose those which are of personal appeal to him. These are organized under commission heads, of which there are three—the Christian Faith, Community Responsibility, and World Relatedness Commissions. All have varied and extensive functions and every member can find something worthwhile to be engaged in.

FOLIO CLUB

FOLIO began in 1932 at the request of the students interested in the reading and discussion of current literature. In the main, this interest has been followed in weekly meetings at the home of the sponsor, Professor Towle.

The Club has a library of its own, by means of which books loaned by members for the year are exchanged. Since informality is the rule, the librarian is the Club's only officer. Folio is not an "honors" club, nor is it an English club. Every year its members are from all classes and various curricula.

Membership is a matter of interest and attendance, and anyone, including members of the faculty and general staff, is welcome.

THE Yacht Club is one of the youngest clubs on campus, but it is one of the most popular. In 1936 a small band of fellows and girls got together to form the club, but because of lack of physical properties it died. In 1958 the club was reorganized, and six boats were purchased with donations of active members and ex-governor Murphy.

The main aims of the club are to teach new members how to sail and to make racing skippers out of those who are already sailors.

The club owns a fleet of Town Class Junior Sloops which are anchored on Great Bay, three miles from Durham.

It is a member of the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association, Inter-Collegiate meets are often held here on campus, and each fall inter-club competition is held for the Commodore's Trophy.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

AFTER several years of inactivity on campus, the International Relations Club reorganized in 1945, with Dr. Norman Alexander as their advisor. The club is organized under the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

It is composed of students who are interested in gaining a better understanding of the United States, and the part it plays in world events today and in the future.

Informal meetings are held on the third Wednesday of each month, and at this time some phase of current affairs is discussed. There are books and pamphlets available for those who wish additional information.

The interest and enthusiasm of the student body promises to give continued success to the organization.

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA

ALPHA Chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological fraternity, was founded at the University of New Hampshire in 1939, with fifteen charter members. The aims of Alpha Kappa Delta are to stimulate research interest in the field of social welfare.

The local chapter serves the sociology student as a means of further orientation in his field. Group research projects are carried on, and occasionally students present their own studies for discussion. Speakers are invited to lecture on topics of sociological value. High point of the year's social activity is the outing and lobster bake held each spring at Mendum's Pond.

Alpha Kappa Delta has done much to promote an interest in sociological research on campus.

PHI Chapter of Phi Sigma, honorary biological society, had its beginning as Pi Gamma, a local fraternity organized on December 8, 1916, by a group of advanced zoology students. In 1926, alumni and student members of Pi Gamma voted to join the National organization of Phi Sigma.

The purpose of Phi Sigma is to promote interest in biological research by providing its members with the opportunity and stimulation for better work. The achievement of superior grades in biological subjects is an essential qualification for membership, but of greater importance beyond this is a keen interest in research and evident promise in the field of original investigations.

Activities include Pre-Med night, lectures, movies, original papers, and a week-end trip which is one of the high spots of the year.

PSI LAMBDA

THE purpose of Psi Lambda is to bring together those girls of unusual ability who are interested in Home Economics, to acquaint them with the activities of Home Economists of note and to develop a professional spirit among the members.

The outstanding activity of the club this year was the annual Christmas sale, which was one of the most successful in our history. The meetings from October through December were work meetings in preparation for the sale.

Psi Lambda each year awards a cup to the Home Economics Senior who has shown the greatest improvement in personality and scholarship during her four years in college.

Aside from its work meetings Psi Lambda also holds business meetings and social meetings.

To promote better citizens both among the veterans and the members of the student body.

To help in the rehabilitation of returning veterans on the campus by social and fraternal relations by those, who because of common experiences in the armed forces, can more readily understand their problems.

To keep veterans informed of state, national or campus activities which might be of direct benefit either to individuals or to the entire body.

ALPHA Chi Omega was founded in 1885 at DePaw University in Indiana by seven women whose main interest was music. This is the reason that the lyre is the symbol of the sorority. The local chapter was first organized in 1915 as Phi Alpha Phi, which later became a chapter in the national sorority, Alpha Chi Omega.

Some of the various activities of the house are faculty teas, house dances, celebration of Founder's Day, and Mother's Day and Dad's Day.

Alpha Chi Omega has endeavored to carry on the ideals of the University of New Hampshire and to promote a spirit of friendship among its members and other sororities.

ALPHA Xi Delta was organized and established at Lombard College, Galesburg, Illinois on April 17, 1893 by ten young women. With thoughts constantly focused on the development of a large national fraternity, the founders and those who succeeded them built these firm foundations. Plans were made for nationalization in 1901, and the constitution was adopted on April 17, 1902.

Phi Delta was the first local sorority of the University of New Hampshire to become affiliated with a national organization, when in 1914 it became Tau Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta.

Among the highlights of this year have been housedances, teas, rushing, the formal rush banquet, card parties, guest night each Wednesday evening and an active participation of all members in campus activities.

ON April 5, 1895 Chi Omega was founded at the University of Arkansas by four women students, guided by Dr. Charles Richardson, a Kappa Sigma and regent of that university. Since that time the sorority has become nation wide, having at present ninety-seven active chapters in forty-three states.

This year Chi Omegas throughout the country will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding. It is an occasion for all these active chapters to reaffirm the Chi Omega policies, among which are the furthering of interest in social service work, public affairs, sciences, and the arts.

The establishment of Chi Omega on the campus of the University of New Hampshire occurred in 1915, when local organization, Alpha Alpha Alpha, became Mu chapter of Chi Omega.

KAPPA Delta Sorority was founded in 1897 in Farmville, Virginia, "to create a symbol of their friendship and perpetuate their aspirations into the future." It is now among the three most outstanding National Sororities.

Kappa Delta is one of the leading sororities of National Pan-Hellenic Congress and has held the offices of treasurer, secretary, and chairman of that body.

Alpha Sigma chapter of Kappa Delta was organized at the University of New Hampshire in 1929 at the request of a local sorority, called the Delta Kappas. Since that time it has actively done its part in promoting Pan-Hellenic and the policies of the University. It has also attempted to do its part toward rounding out and making worthwhile the college life of its members, as well as making them a part of an organization of which they may be proud throughout life.

PHI MU is the second oldest Greek-letter organization for women. It was started as the Philomathean Society by three progressive students at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia.

Among the first notable honorary members were Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis. After the Civil War, the mother chapter enlarged rapidly. So successful was this first fraternity that it became a national organization in 1904. Phi Mu was admitted to the National Pan-Hellenic Congress in 1911. Most influential among the philanthropies of the fraternity are the National Healthmobile and the Building Fund which aids many chapters in financing their houses.

The local sorority Pi Delta was founded in 1916, petitioning for a chapter membership in the national Phi Mu in 1918. The charter for Beta Gamma Chapter was granted in February, 1919.

Today sixty-four chapters spread the tradition and heritage of Phi Mu across the entire United States.

ON June 24, 1941 Pi Lambda Sigma was founded at Boston University by ten earnest young women in order to give its members opportunities to form close and lasting friendships and to enjoy a rich and cultured social life.

This was originally to be a non-sectarian sorority, but, due to further thought, the founders realized that the needs of the Catholic women students required a Catholic sorority. The sorority of Pi Lambda Sigma joined the Pan-Hellenic Society of Boston University in 1923-24.

On February 25, 1929 Lambda Phi of the University of New Hampshire became Epsilon chapter of Pi Lambda Sigma, National Catholic Sorority. Since that time, the aims of the founders have been perpetuated: the establishment of a closer bond between Catholics, which will continue throughout the years after college, as well as the cultivation of the ethical, intellectual, social, and spiritual life of the members.

THE founding of Theta Upsilon can be traced back to January 1, 1914, when twelve girls at the University of California organized the Mekatina Club. In 1921 the club founded the new national fraternity, and the members took the vows of Theta Upsilon. It was admitted to full membership in the National Pan-hellenic Congress in 1928.

On this campus Tau chapter was formerly the local organization, Sigma Omicron, but in 1930 its members were pledged to Theta Upsilon. The sorority inspires the members to strive for greater accomplishments and to covert higher ideals.

Sorority activities include the observance of Founders' Day, Parents' Day, teas, dances, rushing, and ex-collegio weekends.

THE WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE Women's Athletic Association promotes a wide range of activities through its interclass and interhouse competitions and its social program. Every women student is a member.

The interclass sports include hockey, basketball, softball, archery, and tennis. Beginners are always welcome, for a number of practices with individual and team coaching are held before the teams are chosen. After the teams are chosen, interclass games are played. This year the members of the Junior Class were the hockey champs, and the members of the Senior Class were the basketball champs. The All-star Squads were chosen from the players of the four classes to participate in the intercollegiate games. The All-Star hockey girls journeyed to Colby Junior College to tussle with the hockey team there only to be defeated 1 to 0 after a hard fought and exciting game. The All-Star basketball team was more fortunate, however when it defeated Colby Junior 45-43 and Nasson College 56-28 here at New Hampshire.

The competition between the various dorms and sororities is always very keen, and a large number of girls take part in the many interhouse activities. Table tennis, tennis, badminton, basketball, bowling, archery, and a posture-poise contest are included in the competition for the big silver tray which is awarded to the dormitory or sorority which has the highest score. Last year Congreve South was the proud winner of this sought after trophy.

"Rec" includes an hour of "vic" dancing in New Hampshire Hall in the evening with facilities for badminton, ping pong, shuffleboard, and card games available for men and women alike.

THE Whips were organized in December 1944, the first Riding Club at UNH. The purpose of the club is to further knowledge of horses and horsemanship, to create interest in riding as a sport, to explore the countryside, improve the trails, and promote interest on campus through special events such as horse shows, breakfast rides etc.; lastly to develop a group of riders who can care for themselves and their horses in the barn or on the trail, and who can impart this knowledge to others who follow in their hoofprints.

SKATING CLUB

Ferguson, Emerson, Sickmon, Fairbank, Gould, Fletcher, Cuthbertson, Brady, Hewson, Rock, Helff, Cass, Hennessy, Abrahams, Bushway, Braun.

THE UNH Figure Skating Club was organized in December, 1944 for girls from all classes who love figure skating, and desire to learn to dance and to participate in group numbers. They were directed by Miss Ongley whose helpful guidance was well appreciated.

During Carnival weekend, the club put on an ice revue. Barb Krieger '48 gave a tricky solo, and Phil Rock and Glenn Vickory demonstrated several dances. Eloise Braun and Sue Sickmon supplied the humor, and sixteen capettes performed a group routine.

MODERN DANCE CLUB

THE Modern Dance Club at UNH was organized this year under the leadership of Mrs. Hazel Rettig, and Miss Phyllis Ongley. To qualify as a member one must pass certain requirements, which are judged by former members.

Performances have been given at the Folk Club, the Home Economics Style Show and a general exhibition for the campus during the year.

Great enthusiasm has been shown by the members, and we are appreciative of the help given us by Mrs. Rettig and Miss Ongley.

ATHLETICS

SINCE the publication of the last Granite in 1943, varsity intercollegiate athletics have been suspended at the University. Sports on an informal basis, however, were resumed last spring with the organization of a baseball team. This year, New Hampshire has been represented by a football and a basketball team, and another baseball nine. There is every indication that athletics will continue here despite current restrictions, until they reach their prewar standards, of which New Hampshire students can well be proud.

Coach .....Herbert Snow

Captain .....Claude Henry

Manager .....Warren Robbins

FIFTY-five boys reported for the initial practice to Coach Herbert Snow, former Wellesly High and Adelphi Academy coach, who replaced Coaches George Sauer, Charles Justice, and Tony Dougal, all now associated with the United States Navy. The majority of these players, who came up to school two weeks early to begin training, had had only high school experience but Coach Snow began work immediately to shape the boys up into the best wartime team possible.

The first game of a four game home and home schedule was with the University of Maine at Orono on October 14, four days after school opened. The Bears won the duel on a mud-soaked, rain-swept gridiron, 13-6. The Wildcats fought all the way, but the Maine boys took advantage of all the breaks, scoring twice in the first half. The Wildcats dominated the play in the last stanza, but a strong Maine line held to the final gun.

The following week, the Wildcats were host to a powerful Middlebury team composed mainly of V-12 students and coached by ex-Orange Bowl star, Peter J. Proginnis. After a dogged first half in which the Wildcats held their own, the Midds opened up in the final period, ripping the New Hampshire line to shreds and scoring with apparent ease. The final score was 27-7.

It was a vastly improved team that squared off against Middlebury at Middlebury the following week. The Wildcats threw a scare into the highly favored Panthers by dominating play in the first half, having control of the ball almost exclusively. Less than ten minutes after the opening kickoff the Cats were down on the Middies' one yard line only to be staved off by a heavy Middlebury forward wall. Middlebury came bouncing back in the second stanza to rack up three touchdowns. The lone Wildcat touchdown came in the fourth quarter on a succession of passes. Standing on the Midd's 20, Bill Black heaved one to Dave Brown, who lugged it to the Middlebury 3; on the next play, Black shoveled the pigskin to Joe Swekla for the touchdown. Black also added the extra point. From then on till the final whistle the Wildcats fought furiously but lack of reserves told the story and the game ended with Middlebury the winner by the score of 21-7.

Although the team had not fared too well, they were backed up with unequaled school spirit. Monster rallies were held on the eve of each game, with the sparkling Pepcats, Rudolph Honkola, Russ Harmon and four-foot Shorty Bolger leading the entire student body in roof raising cheers at the Field House.

Spirit of this kind could not be denied as was shown by the results of the second game played with Maine at Lewis Field on November 11. Trailing by a 14-6 margin in the third period, the Wildcats came from behind to win a 19-14 victory over the Maine Bears, with 1200 fans cheering them on. New Hampshire opened the scoring early in the first period with Joe Swekla plunging across from the 4-yard line. Maine scored two touchdowns in the first ten minutes of the second half, but New Hampshire came right back with a pair of touchdowns of her own in the fourth period to sew up the ball game.

THE year 1945 also saw basketball resumed at the University on an informal basis with an eight game schedule, seven games of which were played at home. The squad, coached by veteran Wildcat mentor, Henry Swasey, had a fairly successful season winning five out of the eight games played.

The first contest scheduled was with the Portsmouth Harbor Defenses Five, a team of semi-pro strength. The Wildcats' starting lineup found Vic Szaluka, at right forward and Fred White at the other forward position. Starting center was John Hollingsworth. Rounding out the five at the guard positions were Andy Mooradian and Rip Therrian.

The game, won by the soldiers 75-60, was thrill-packed from start to finish with the lead changing hands constantly. Lack of reserves finally caught up with the Wildcats in the last quarter as the soldiers got hot, pouring in basket after basket to put the duel on ice. Sparking the Swaseymen were White who notched 24 points and Therrian whose fine defensive work was a feature of the game.

New Hampshire's second game with the highly touted Northeastern five found a renovated Wildcat lineup with apparently paid dividends as the Wildcats outscored, outfought, and outplayed the Huskies, winning 68-57. The New Hampshire defense played flawless ball and showed much improvement over their performance in their previous game.

The third game of the season found the Wildcats completely outclassing an undermanned Portsmouth Naval Hospital five, winning by the top-heavy score of 53-32. New Hampshire forged into an early lead and soon put the fray on ice. The Swaseymen were paced by Therrian and White who gathered up 37 points between them, and Hollingsworth who played a great game at guard.

The Wildcats tasted the second defeat of the season when the University of Maine Bears sprang a mild upset to topple them 71-61. The game, played at Orono, saw the Wildcats definitely off the beam as the Bears jumped to a quick 18 point lead which the Cats, though they rallied valiantly could not overcome.

The first game of the second semester against a strong Sanford Naval Air Station five found Hank Swasey starting an entirely rejuvenated lineup. Hollingsworth, Therrian, and Szaluka had left school, but their loss was partially offset by the return of Red Ryder and a number of new candidates. Taking over at center was Andy Mooradian while the guard posts were occupied by John Henneberger, the team manager and Jack Richardson. Ryder and White started at forward. The sailors started off at a whirlwind pace and assumed an early lead. The Wildcats finally came to life in the second canto and with the spectacular playing of Fred White who poured 33 points through the twines, soon overcame the deficit and waltzed away to a 54-48 verdict. The big gun in the New Hampshire attack in addition to White was the defensive play of Jack Richardson.

Playing before a capacity Winter Carnival crowd, the Wildcats were downed by the Boston University Terriers 48-34 to suffer their third defeat in six starts. New Hampshire could do nothing against the strong B. U. defense and as a result were held to their lowest score of the year.

The seventh game of the schedule found the Swaseymen more than making up for their previous defeat as they poured it on against the undermanned Lowell Textile aggregation to win by the top-heavy margin of 51 - 36.

For the first time in the season Hank Swasey used the entire squad of sixteen players as the plucky Weavers had little manpower and faded to a mere shadow in the last stanza.

The last game of the campaign was a sweet one for the Wildcats as they gained revenge over their previous conquerers, the Maine Bears, in a spine-tingling contest, winning by the slim margin of 66 - 60. The game started off at a furious pace with the lead swapping hands many times, but it remained for the two Wildcat firehorses, White and Ryder to put the game on ice in the closing minutes of the duel as they countered with sensational lay-up shots.

Other members of the basketball squad were: Eliot Easterbrook, Robert Broad, Bud Tibbetts, Richard Meade, Bill Holleman, Dick Paquette, Bob Audley, Bill Palerino, Richard Barron, Henry Bailey, and Chester Sim.

Hennenberger, Mooradian, White, Meade, Richardson.

COACH SWASEY

Coach ..... Henry Swasey
 Co-captains ..... { Carl Adams
   { Norman Flint
 Manager ..... Warren Robbins

THE first civilian athletic team to appear at Lewis Field after varsity athletics had been abolished in 1942 was the 1944 Informal Baseball team. Although there were not many men on campus from which to draw players, there was an abundance of spirit and enthusiasm and a small nucleus of seasoned players around which to build a team.

Norm Flint and Carl "Red" Adams, two outstanding holdovers from the New England Conference Championship Wildcat team of 1942 were back at school and their presence on campus gave the hope for a baseball team a real boost. In addition, Fred "Red" Crory, erstwhile minor league player of some distinction was eligible to participate, due to the informal nature of the team.

Around these men Coach Swasey had a group of war veterans, a little out of practice but with plenty of pep; and a group of very promising freshmen.

Practice started early in April, first indoors in the cage, then up on the La Crosse field, finally managing to get down to Brackett Field which had dried sufficiently to permit a few sessions there before the first game with Northeastern.

On April 29, the team journeyed down to Huntington Field in Brookline to tackle the Engineers from Boston. New Hampshire took the field in its initial game with Carl Adams on the mound. Adams and Crory alternated pitching chores throughout the season with one usually in the field while the other one hurled. Kermit "Jake" Daimont, a colorful Claremont boy, was behind the plate. The rest of the infield was composed of Joe "Gung Ho" Bennett at first, Wally Kane, a steady and reliable player from Worcester at second, Norm Flint, shortstop, and Claude, "also Gung Ho", Henry at third base. In the outfield were "Bud" Tibbetts, left; Tony Adamekos, center; and Bob Johnson in right field.

Northeastern, which already had two victories under its belt, started fast and took advantage of all the breaks to come out on the top side of an 8-7 score. The most notable feature of the game was the abundance of errors: eight for N.H., and seven for the "Huskies." Our boys had no particular trouble with the ambidextrous hurling of George Rosatto, who attempted to confuse opposing batsmen by changing pitching arms on them during their times at bat.

Not too greatly phased by their defeat at the hands of Northeastern, the Swaseymen returned to their home field on May 6 and defeated a strong but not too well coordinated Portsmouth Marine team. The Wildcats tightened up their fielding considerably and made their own nine hits go for seven runs, allowing the servicemen but four.

A week later, New Hampshire, on a three day safari into the State of Maine, dropped a close one to Bates College, 6-5, but bounced back the next day to overwhelm the University of Maine on the Orono Diamond by a score of 19-5. This game was a walkaway from the first inning when UNH piled up ten runs on six hits. Adams helped win his own game by contributing a double and two triples while "Chuck" Thayer poled a long home run into the woods and added a single for good measure. Thayer, holding down second base, followed in the footsteps of his brother Jerry Thayer who was an outstanding member of the 1941 Wildcat nine. Wally Kane had been shifted from second to first, "Rudy" Honkola was at the hot corner, and Tony Adamekos, versatile and a very natural ball player, was moved by Coach Swasey to the backstop position with Daimont taking over in right field.

Despite a revised and more effective lineup, New Hampshire's good fortune ended at Orono. They dropped their next encounter to Northeastern 13-9 in a rather disappointing game which saw a great deal of errors chalked up against the Wildcats.

After two practice games, a much improved New Hampshire team took the field against a vastly superior Harvard nine at Brackett Field and despite good-as-usual hurling by Crory, his own 800% batting average, and heads up ball playing by New Hampshire, the game ended with Harvard the victor by a 6-4 score.

That game ended the season in which New Hampshire won but two and lost four games. All was not as bad as the record might indicate, however. For the team was a step in the right direction; the first step along the road toward the renewal of varsity intercollegiate athletics.

Other members of the baseball squad not mentioned above were: Elton Lahar, Dave Pheasant, Joe McDonough, John Hawke, and Bernie Dwork and John Hannigan, assistant managers.
